

TRANSGENDER

Road Diaries

A TIBETAN ADVENTURE

TRANSGENDER

Road Diaries

A Tibetan adventure

Born to a life in exile in New Delhi, Tenzin is one of the first Tibetan refugee children to immigrate to the United States. He knows something is different about himself right when he gets to the trailer park in Broomfield, Colorado. Join Tenzin as he comes of age on the West Coast, and on his travels across the U.S., Europe, and India. Learn how his adventures lead him to an understanding of the prejudices and possibilities of others, as well as an honest encounter with his Tibetan and transgender identities.

Cover design by Tsewang Lhamo
Story by Tenzin Mingyur Paldron

ISBN 817525766-0

9 788175 257665

TRANSGENDER

Road Diaries

A Tibetan adventure

After his American stepfather passes away, a Tibetan refugee goes on a road trip to spend some time with himself. His journey takes him across the United States, Canada, and Europe, reuniting with friends and meeting strangers. When his trip is over, he still has his doctoral studies to finish. Where will he go?

Cover design by Tsewang Lhamo
Story by Tenzin Mingyur Paldron

ISBN 817525766-0

9 788175 257665

Image description (art by Tselha/Tsewang Lhamo)

Book jacket art with an aqua-teal background. The title on the front cover reads- Transgender Road Diaries: A Tibetan Adventure. In the foreground is a black-and-white figure with short haircut and sunglasses stands in a Tibetan shirt. Floating by their face is a mask of a wrathful Tibetan deity. In the background is a small hatchback vehicle on a paved road that streaks off into the distance. Inside the car is a figure of a driver, with luggage in the backseat and a suitcase strapped to the roof. At the top of the jacket art, a paper airplane heads rightward with a dotted path tracing its flight, origin unseen.

Back Cover Version 1

The dotted path connects with a Tibetan cloud colored in the hues of the Philadelphia Pride Flag (black, brown, orange, green, yellow, purple, blue, red). Centered text reads:

Born to a life in exile in New Delhi, Tenzin is one of the first Tibetan refugee children to immigrate to the United States. He knows something is different about himself right when he gets to the trailer park in Broomfield, Colorado. Join Tenzin as he comes of age on the West Coast, and on his travels across the U.S., Europe, and India. Learn how his adventures lead him to an understanding of the prejudices and possibilities of others, as well as an honest encounter with his Tibetan and transgender identities.

At the bottom of the jacket, Tsewang Lhamo is credited for the cover art while Tenzin Mingyur Paldron is listed as the story author.

Back Cover Version 2

A different text blurb reads:

After his American stepfather passes away, a Tibetan refugee goes on a road trip to spend some time with himself. His journey takes him across the United States, Canada, and Europe, reuniting with friends and meeting strangers. When his trip is over, he still has his doctoral studies to finish. Where will he go?